The reason for the request was to perform samples onsite because of a hold time issue. After receiving all of the information from the Region, we realized the hold time was for a bio sample which we could not do. Ultimately everyone moved faster than the details were communicated.

Heads up PHILIS is gassing up now to head to Farmington per the request of Region 6. Despite not doing metals, the region has decided it's worth it to have the lab on site and use the existing capabilities. Stay tuned!

All. This statement is ready for Congressional contacts now--Region 6 and Region 8 have that covered. It contains the information from this afternoon's briefing. It can issue to media and other contacts later tonight. We'll be ready to answer questions first thing in the morning.
